PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE...

...Jim Bradfield

Some members have been made aware by letter that the water meter project has fallen behind our original deadline. A slow start by our contractor and weather delays, including the severe snowstorm in mid-December, have contributed to the delay. However, the project is nearing its completion. In view of the delays, the Board has already initiated, where possible, the water recording procedure with the reading taken of those homes with functioning meters. As other meters come on line an initial reading will be taken and the date recorded to establish the six month period for second reading and water use billing. The Board believes that this is the most equitable and simplest method for initiating this project. In one sense it will make it easier in the future to read meters since there will be staggered dates for the various homeowners rather than a single date within which it would have been necessary to read all of the meters.

The Board has reviewed the Public Service Commission Regulations on water utilities and continues to consult with outside legal counsel on our water usage fee plan.

The Board intends to contract with Mr. John Lewis, P.E. to provide expert engineering services during the phased implementation of our water system upgrade. Mr. Lewis is the contract civil engineer who previously assisted us in, among other things, the completion of the sewage wetland cell project.

Members will remember that at the annual meeting the condition of the tennis courts was discussed. The Board, at its January monthly meeting, received a preliminary report of a survey that is underway to determine the cost for; rehabilitating the courts by resurfacing; replacement of the courts in kind; or replacing with a new court surface that has been developed.

The next Board meeting is Saturday, 6 February, at the Davis Public Library, 6400 Democracy Boulevard, Bethesda, MD. beginning at 9:30 AM. The Board is disappointed that only two members have taken advantage of the time set aside at the beginning of each
