SPRING

SPRING CLEANUP TIPS

Ah, Springtime, a time of renewal. The flowers are popping up, the grass is growing, the sun is shining. But wait; that sun is shining on those dirty windows. Now's the time to call Alice Minnamon or Gale/Kitty Connor to get the names of reliable people. It's also a good time to have those gutters cleaned so the spring rains don't clog your gutters and produce leaks into your home. It's also a good time to have your chimney cleaned if you haven't had it done lately. If you are out walking the "loop" and see trash on the roads, why not pick it up and dispose of it properly. Let's all pitch in and keep our mountainside as beautiful as we can.

This is our second article in our Neighbor to Neighbor series.

By Mary Ann Michels

I first came to Coolfont in November 1984 after my husband Tom passed away. When I had asked my homeopathic physician to name a peaceful, healthy place where I might go to heal, this was one of two places he named. I've been coming ever since, and in 1993 I purchased Lot R-2. After living in Virginia for 22 years, I will be moving in late May to Hagerstown, MD, which is where my practice, Tri-State Hypnotherapy is located. I became interested in hypnosis in high school but proper, sweet young ladies did not pursue such careers. I learned self hypnosis in order to heal myself and to make myself strong to take care of my husband.

In January 1996 I opened Tri-State Hypnotherapy. My practice ranges from clients coming to me for weight loss, to quit smoking, to brides coming to me to calm them down for their wedding day. I've had successful businessmen come for help with motivation and job performance, even shy wives who want to be able to express their love for their husbands more comfortably. Gymnasts come for help in overcoming fears so they can make the team. I've had cancer patients come so that they would not get sick from the chemotherapy, and they didn't! My work is never boring and always so rewarding.

My very busy practice and getting ready to move have kept me too busy to devote any time whatsoever to plans for building at Coolfont. Once settled in Hagerstown that may change. The mountains and Coolfont are always there, tugging at my soul.

BOARD MEMBER CORNER

Our guest Board Member writer for this issue is Roland Siushansian, CMA's Treasurer.

Mary Ann, Dena and I first started coming to Coolfont back in the 1980's and knew when we wanted a second home it would be in Coolfont. We finished our home, The Hearth, in April, 1995 and have not had one bad week-end since moving in; whether it is just Mary Ann and myself, or a house full of friends. One of the things that we have enjoyed since coming to the mountainside has been the warmth and hospitality that we have received from everyone. It's nice to be the new kids on the block and feel so welcomed.

As Treasurer of the Association, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Lee Weinberger and Gale Connor for the outstanding hard work and dedication that they have put in. Lee has been overseeing the water system upgrade and has saved us an enormous amount of money. If you see them say thanks.

In order to improve the mountainside, we need more volunteers in every aspect in the association. For example, Paul Kagen volunteered to help me as Treasurer and I thank him for his help. Why not give one of the chairpersons a call and ask what you can do to help.

I have noticed that some of the members are having problems with excessive water usage and I believe some troubleshooting by John Hobday, who is very familiar with our system, would be helpful to solve your problem. Why not give him a call.

COMMITTEE UPDATES

Here's where you can read about what's been going on with the various committees.

THE COMMUNICATIONS /SOCIAL COMMITTEE:
Rosemary Bigelow

The Communications Committee and Social Committee are jointly sponsoring a newcomers' brunch to be held Sunday, May 4 at Lee and Greta Weinbergers (D-1, off Bluebird Lane). Brunch will begin at 10AM and will include a short welcoming program. We hope you will all come and meet our newest Mountainside neighbors. CMA will be footing the bill for this activity. Please RSVP to Kitty Connor (304-258-3975) or Joan Bradfield (301-984-9657) if you haven't already, so that the committees will know how much food to prepare. If anyone needs a place to stay that week-end, please call Rosemary Bigelow (304-258-5352) or Kitty Connor.

Our telephone tree needs some more branches! If you would like to help out, please give Joan Bradfield a call (all it takes is making a few phone calls a month).

DACC COMMITTEE
Linda Clark

The State of WV has for years required construction contractors to comply with CABO (The Council of American Building Officials for One and Two Family dwelling code. The CMA Board of Directors has agreed that CMA comply with CABO in this regard. This means that ALL construction, whether new or a renovation, SHALL comply with the (current) 1992 Edition of this code. This is a very basic building code, written specifically for residential properties. These requirements are far less stringent than those required by the Codes in the Washington and Baltimore areas; but they address basic issues of construction and safety.

DACC is updating the building applications and inspection forms to coordinate with this requirement. DACC maintains a list of local inspectors who are familiar with this Code. If anyone has questions, please call Linda Clark at 301-588-1331.

Anyone who intends on submitting an application for an addition, or a new house, is strongly encouraged to call Linda ahead of time to discuss what is required so that the process can proceed smoothly. Surveys regarding recommendations on construction contractors, design and the DACC process were mailed to seven recent owners who built on the mountainside. Call Pat Schenk (703-710-5499) to learn about previously recommended contractors.

A VIEW FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Mountainside Neighbors,

It's time to tip my hat (if I wore one) to some more folks who have made a big difference on the mountainside this year, and who have once again shown what a small community needs more than anything else: the energies and interests of its people. Of course, these aren't the only people deserving of thanks, but I want to recognize different people in each newsletter.

We are enjoying more attendance at Board Meetings and our new social events than ever before, and it is a direct result of the efforts of our Communications Committee members and the telephone tree volunteers who "sell" the idea of coming out and seeing what Coolfont's all about. The Communications Committee has also been producing the best lookin' community newsletter and member list in four states (and the District), in my opinion, and we are all better informed by their efforts.

Joan Bradfield! Thank you for creating the new social opportunities to get us all together over food and conversation!

Gale Connor and Lee Weinberger have been tackling a Herculean task with the water upgrade and the overall operation of our Utilities system. They are out in the mud and snow and rain making certain our new system is what we want and what we're paying for. Richard Kaufmann's wonderful insights and recommendations on the system have formed a solid blueprint for our future implementation, and the Board has wholeheartedly adopted its proposals.

Finally, (for this column, anyway), I want to thank our Treasurer, Roland Siushansian. On his own, Roland has worked very hard to bring our accounting and financial information into the computer age, as well as organizing it so that we have an up-to-the-minute, clear overview of how healthy each category of our budget is. That contribution, along with Anne Marie Doppman's foundation for that effort, is deeply appreciated.

Volunteers make the Mountainside. You'll hear me say that a lot, and it's more true than ever. Got some energy, time and interests you'd like to share? Jump on in! Contact any committee chair or board member!

Best regards,
Jackson

There will be a pre-season pool beautification and clean up followed by a pot luck picnic on Saturday, May 17 at 10AM. Plan to meet us at the pool and let's all pull together to make it sparkle! Grills and charcoal will be available for hot dogs and hamburgers, etc.

There are 30 bluebird houses now on the mountainside. Rumor has it that the birds are already in the neighborhood. Those people wishing to contribute towards the cost of the bluebird houses, please send a check for $15 to Roland Siushansian, made out to CMA.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE
DICK LEHMAN

The Nomination Committee presented the CMA Board at its April 12th meeting a list of procedures for the conduct of election of new Board members, that if approved, will apply for the elections at the Annual Meeting on July 19, 1997. The procedures are designed to assure the broadest possible participation of CMA members in elections, while maintaining secrecy of the ballots and integrity of the election process. The approved procedures will be mailed to all CMA members within the next few weeks.

The Committee is seeking, from the CMA membership, the

SPRING ON THE MOUNTAINSIDE

Patricia Waters (Folly)

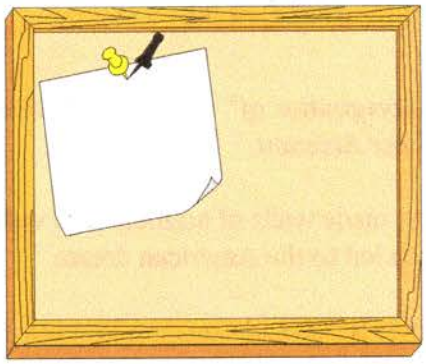

"Tis May, Tis May, the Merry Month of May" and all around you nature is bursting with color. Our mountainside is beautiful with flowering Dogwoods and Red Buds, sometimes called Judas Trees. According to legend, Judas hanged himself from a tree similar to our Red Bud. Violets are springing up everywhere, including the Dog Tooth Violet, which is really a lily called the Trout Lily. They are found around St. John's Run on Martha's Trail at Coolfont. The apple orchards are in full bloom all around our area. Wild Columbine can be spotted along the roadsides. It has a nodding red and yellow drooping flower. Marsh marigolds are blooming in damp, marshy areas. It is a succulent plant with heart shaped leaves and a bright shiny yellow flower. Cold Run Valley Road is a gold mine of wild specimens all year long. The blood root bloomed in April and if you keep your eyes open you will find Wild Geraniums (Cranesbill) with lavender flowers in loose clusters, stems about one to two feet in height. Also on the Valley road you might see Yellow Hawkweed, Dames Rocket, Sweet Cicely and Bell flowers. The locust trees are in full bloom and their sweet scent is very prevalent. Wild Roses are blooming along the edge of fields and wild bramberries are sporting fragile white blossoms. The medium strip on Route 70 is a sight to behold. In May, it is aglow with Daisies and Dames Rocket. In June, it is even prettier with Poppies, Larkspur, Coreopsis and Daisies.

On the mountainside I have seen some Jack-In-The-Pulpiats. The soft furry rosettes of Mullein are up and will soon be sending up their tall stalks, covered with yellow blossoms. Evening Primroses come along in late May and early June. The Day Lilies have put up their green spears and will be blooming in June, July and August.

I recommend two books for learning more about Wild Flowers:

1. A Field Guide to Wild Flowers
   by Roger Tory Peterson
2. The Audobon Society Field Guide to
   North American Wild Flowers

Go out and enjoy the beautiful burst of colors on our mountainside.

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN BERKELEY SPRINGS

Rosemary Bigelow

The "Concerts in the Park" series will hold its summer programs every Saturday evening in July and August. Concerts will be held in the Berkeley Springs State Park at 5:30 PM. Rain location is the Ice House.

Gallerie shows will be held every weekend at the Ice House, from mid-August to the first week in December.

The annual Studio Tour of local artisans will be held August 9th and 10th from 10AM to 6PM.

For details of the above events, and a complete summer calendar, contact Travel Berkeley Springs, 1-800-447-8797; or join the Morgan Arts Council and receive all the information (258-2300).

Berkeley Springs has a real deli! On April 10, Tari's opened a deli next to the restaurant. The focus is on operating it like an old fashioned general grocery store with specialized services. You can call your grocery order in and it will be boxed and waiting for you when you arrive. (or sip a cappuccino while your order is being prepared.) Smaller portions geared to weekenders will be available, as well as special order lunch gift baskets. Featured foods will be freshly baked breads, muffins and cookies, seafood, NY deli meats and cheeses, fine chocolates. Tari's dad will be growing all the fresh vegetables. Hours are 8AM to 8PM Thursday-Sunday, 258-1196.

High Lawn Inn will begin its Silver Service Dinners on Memorial Day weekend. Dates for the dinners are 5/24, 6/28, 7/4 and 7/26. Reservations are a must so give them a call at 258-5700.

Mountain Laurel Crafts, which features the work of local artisans, has just reopened under new ownership at 120 Fairfax Street across from the park.

GUTTER GUARDS

If anyone is interested in having the gutter guards that we told you about in the January newsletter, please contact Joan Bradfield (301-984-9657). We have four families that are interested as of now.

HERBERT QUICK AND THE AMERICAN DREAM

Following are excerpts of a story about John Herbert Quick, the builder and originator of "Coolfont" as told by Carl Keen in a 1967 issue of Valley of History III, No.4. For a copy, call Elmer Broxson.

Herbert Quick erected his house on the foundation of an agrarian social theory, made walls of nonfiction as well as a fiction-plastered with realism and romanticism, and constructed stairways that led to the American dream.

Coolfont - the manor house situated in "Sir John's Vale," between Warm Springs Ridge and Cacapon Mountain, on Cold Run Valley Road, four miles from Berkeley Springs, in Morgan County, WV - was the physical structure that Quick built, and it, plus the nearly 1,000 acres of his "mountain estate," was his personal symbol of the American dream come true. ...

He was born Oct. 23, 1861 on a small farm in Grundy County, near Steamboat Rock, Iowa, the sun of Martin and Margaret (Coleman) Quick and was named John Herbert Quick. The youngest son of nine children in a struggling pioneer family, Herbert grew up as the virgin prairie of Iowa was "wedded to he plow" and developed into some of the richest producing farmlands in the world. He was always a "son of the soil," as his numerous writings well show.

At Coolfont, Quick practiced, as much as possible,the American dream he preached. Here, in his personal Eden, he farmed. Here he orcharded the apples and peaches of a thousand trees and soon doubled their number Here he experimented with the crossing of grapes, and here he cultivated a tomato garden so productive that he had a cannery built, a structure still standing on the premises. In fact, all the physical structures that Quick built still stand at Coolfont; the cannery, the livery stable, the little spring house, the swimming pool in front, and the manor house itself.

The house itself is large and sturdy. It's walls - of outer stucco, interior brick and plaster - are thick as a fortress. On the upper floor are the bathroom (which Quick argued was the most important thing to keep farm wives from wanting to move into towns and cities), six bedrooms (two of which have fireplaces), and a screened-in porch; on the ground floor are the kitchen and pantry, the formal dining room (with fireplace), a large foyer, the living room and music room (each with a fireplace), the office where Herbert Quick did so much of his writing and typing, and another screen porch; in the cellar are the furnace and storage areas, and showers and an underground tunnel that would have delighted Tom Sawyer and that leads to the little spring house. Quick built this house literally over a spring, which still flows through the cellar and out into the front-yard swimming pool. This is why Quick named it thus: Cool-font.

Quick did not live alone in this home. His family consisted of his wife Ella D (Corey)...and his daughter, Margaret, whose two major artistic interests continue to be writing verse and painting. The paintings still on the basement walls of Coolfont may possibly have been done by the younger Margaret. A family man, Herbert Quick left his home only when necessary - as when called upon to speak before various audiences in the United States. Occasionally he went into Berkeley Springs - to play a game of his favorite sport, billiards, or to see how he could help his neighbors. When he was establishing the Federal Farm Loan Bureau (which was recently given full credit for US farm growth), he commuted by train between his Washington office and Coolfont, always glad to return to his beloved rural home.

It was at Coolfont that Quick corresponded with such political figures and personal friends as Woodrow Wilson, William Jennings Bryan and Henry Wallace, and such fellow writers as Vachel Lindsey and Mark Sullivan. It was at Coolfont that Quick wrote about his horticultural experiments and other activities and theories. It was at Coolfont - which is now an expanded 1,800-acre "family vacation environment" - that Herbert Quick preached and practiced his American dream.

Let's welcome a couple of new people to the mountainside. Make sure you add them to your directory.

This is a tale of two homeowners, one new to the mountainside and one of the first homeowners.

Ten years ago I was invited to a birthday week-end get away at Coolfont. During that time, we went on a hike, got lost in the woods and talked from morning till the wee hours in front of the fireplace. It was grand. Each year after that in February, a group of us re-enacted that scene. Little could I have guessed that today I would own a lovely cabin in these same hills and become the hostess for those lively week-ends.

I've taught school in Harrisburg, Pa for the last 32 years. I'm facing retirement after this last year with my fourth graders and am looking forward to having time to enjoy our little home at Coolfont with time to read, write and savor the trees and birds of this lovely area. I've already begun to enjoy the community here as well as the lodge, massages, walks and good food so readily available in this idealic setting.

Lorraine Kujawa C-2 Fernwood

Having a vacation home at Coolfont is a reality that I never believed would actually happen. Over twenty years ago I discovered Berkeley Springs, Cacapon State Park and then the up and coming Coolfont Resort. My mother and I came to the area after my dad passed away for a week-end of mountain tranquillity. I guess I've been a renter for over fifteen years. Each visit I'd hear myself say "oh, how nice it would be to own a home here." During the last few years, a combination of circumstances made the dream a reality;my mother passed away leaving me with the wish and wherewithal to begin my quest for land at Coolfont. My partner in many successful and enterprising projects over the past 10 years sold her house and was looking for a place to re-invest. And, so we decided to build a vacation home at Coolfont. We are both educators and believed that our schedules would allow us to thoroughly enjoy the property with our friends. We've already been enjoying the tennis, walking, massages, good food and new friends at Coolfont.

There are many people to be recognized for their help and support over the past year; the CMA Board and Committees for their sincerity and commitment as volunteers, Sam Ashelman for his vision for Coolfont Resort over all these years; and each of you who have offered good ideas, advise and suggestions to us as new CMA members. I am glad to be here!

COOLFONT 1970.....This was the year Roland and I, and our three children discovered new camping grounds. We left the Blue Ridge to find a great camping area in WV at Coolfont. Delightful! A beautiful, clean area with lots of trees, quiet and cool in the evenings. After renting a cabin for Thanksgiving, we decided to buy a lot (D-2) and build a house. A view of the lake, lovely neighbors, the Tree Top Restaurant nearby where we enjoyed Al Capen's slides, and fine talks on nature, and lovely concerts at the Manor House. Tree Tops was then a small place; there was no Woodland House, and not many neighbors. We attended the first meeting of the Coolfont Mountainside Association and were were pleased with what we learned. We have more neighbors now and more activity, but the beautiful scenery is still here, and we still enjoy those lovely concerts at the Manor House.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY COMMITTEE

Eva Lehman

The 25th Anniversary Celebration will be held on Sept. 27 and 28, 1997 to commemorate the first meeting of CMA homeowners. The Committee has agreed on some basic ideas and a general agenda for the celebration. Most of the details have yet to be worked out. We want additional suggestions for activities to make the celebration a fun and meaningful event for everyone. Here are some of our ideas:

We would like homeowners who have space available to invite a lot owner and family for an overnight stay (Saturday night) so that they can fully participate in the two day celebration. We also plan to invite and host previous CMA members, who have significantly contributed to CMA history. We plan a poster exhibit, in the barn, of historical events in the development of CMA. Comments will accompany historical photographs and artifacts. We would like to exhibit some artistic photos of the mountainside environment (winter scenes, spring blooms etc) and of social gatherings (clean up parties, Christmas parties, pot lucks etc).

Saturday, Sept. 27 we have planned:

10-11AM - Arrival and Registration of all participants and viewing exhibits in the barn
11-2PM - A pot luck lunch at the barn to be organized with the help of the Social Committee
2PM - Historical Walking Tour about the Loop Road to be led by Elmer Broxson
4PM - A Nature Walk along the green-orange trail to be led by Charlie Balkan
6-8PM - Dinner...members and guests are on their own; dine at home or at a local restaurant
8PM - Entertainment at the barn. We are considering various suggestions -a mystery presentation with with audience participation, a variety show, singing and dancing

Sunday, Sept 28: we have plan:

A brunch at Cacapon State Park. Honoring our "old-timers: the early CMA settlers. An opportunity in a relaxed setting for a recital of anecdotes and "I remember when" to be led by Stan Bigelow. This will be followed by outdoor activities using Cacapon State Park and/or Coolfont facilities for golf, tennis, a ride or a hike up the trails, water activities if available.

If you have suggestions, photos or memorabilia, please give Eva Lehman a call at 301-229-3264.

WATER SYSTEM UPGRADE

Gale Connor

Winter has come and gone and we are now back on track. After three months of no activity, we are back at work. Our current target is to have Phase I completed by the end of June. In an effort to speed up the progress of the remaining work, we have changed contractors.

Since mid-March we have completed laying about 99% of the new pipeline. The pipe has been covered and pressure tested successfully. There were no leaks in the approximate 4,000 feet of pipe that has been laid.

The new South reservoir has started to take shape. The concrete floor and walls have been poured and the roof should be poured by the end of April. Once the roof is completed, the plumbing will be installed and the next step is to connect the new main line to the South and North reservoir.

During Phase I construction, the Board of Directors requested the Utilities Committee to appoint a subcommittee to review the present project and to develop a long term plan for the solution of any remaining CMA water problems. The subcommittee is chaired by Richard Kaufman with Lee Weinberger and Gale Connor as members. At the February meeting, the committee submitted their report and was accepted by the Board. The Board directed that the committee implement the recommendations as follows:

1. Implementation of the first stage of the water system upgrade plan, as presently envisioned, should proceed to completion.

2. Steps should be taken, as soon as possible, to assure the accessibility and security of all wells, reservoirs, pumps and other equipment.

3. The existing North and R reservoirs should be refurbished at the earliest possible time.

4. Once the upgraded system is performing as intended, test should be made to determine the feasibility of using water from the Salmon well for all CMA homes.

5. If it is determined that the Salmon well can serve all CMA homes, the appropriate modifications of the system should be made.

6. A study should be done to examine various options concerning the R reservoir. This study should be completed in time, to be discussed at the next general meeting.

BOARD MEETING SUMMARIES

FEBRUARY MEETING

Roland Siushansian presented his revised monthly accounting summaries to the Board, which make the budget analysis process very clear, and shows where cost areas are running over or under, so the Board can take action before budget problems arise.

Water quality standards are being upgraded in West Virginia and Administrator Bob Lemon will work with the Utilities Committee to find out where our water discharge stands in relation to new standards.

DACC issues remain unresolved on several homes, due to the contractor closing in the ditches and completing installations before inspections could be made by homeowner's licensed inspector. Resolution is being sought.

Utilities Committee reports leaks in the old water system are repaired, and the new system is still waiting for completion in warmer weather. Richard Kaufman presented an excellent report from the subcommittee on the water system upgrade plan, and the Board agreed to review the six recommendations of the report for a vote at the March meeting.

The Nominating Committee is made up of Dick Lehman, Chairman, with Dilys Parry, Ed Neill, Pat Waters and Gale Connor. The Committee will make recommendations on election procedures at the April meeting.

The Recreation Committee announced pool ID card recommendations and concern over motorized vehicles using CMA sections of the hiking trails.

The Communications Committee was congratulated for the newsletter and member communications. The Board agreed that CMA homeowners fill out an "Owner's Agent" reference card for absentee owners in case of emergencies, such as water leaks.

Bluebird houses will be built and installed using member donations. Elmer Broxson and Charlie Balkan are in charge of the project.

MARCH MEETING

The Treasurer's financial report was approved, as was a new line item for the FY 1998 budget: Water Meter Maintenance.

There was discussion of a request by CRI to delay the payment of the installment due from the 1995 agreement. Sam Ashelman requested the delay because he said he had not sold lots, due to delays in the water system construction and county requirements that such systems be in place. The Board voted against the request, 6-1. Later that week, the Board acted on an appeal by Sam through the President's individual telephone calls to Board members. Those reached approved the delay, with additional stipulations to which Sam agreed. Carroll Yingling was not reached in that conference call, but later stated that he remained against the approval of the delay, and that CRI should be considered in default.

In other matters, the Board adopted all six recommendations of Richard Kaufman's water system upgrade subcommittee. These recommendations call for completion of the first phase of the new water system as scheduled, assuring accessibility and security of all water system reservoirs and equipment, refurbishing the North and R reservoirs at the earliest possible time, testing to insure the upgraded system performs as designed and to determine the feasibility of using the Salmon well to provide all CMA water, making modifications to Salmon well if so determined, and to further study various options, including replacing the R reservoir. The Board congratulated Richard Kaufman and his committee for their excellent work on the report.

The Board voted to move $3,000 from unused snow removal budget to water system maintenance to cover section overruns.

Twenty-eight bluebird houses have been erected at a cost of $15 per house and donations are being sought from members.
