MOUNTAINEER

A TRIBUTE TO CEE WEINBERGER

Mary Ann Stushanstan

What can you say about a man who devoted all of his time and energy as a volunteer? Lee Weinberger certainly was an exceptional man. He arrived at Coolfont at a time when the Coolfont Mountainside Association really needed him. Lee was at the right place at the right time and CMA was privileged to have him on the mountainside. Lee practically single-handily took over control of the water upgrade. Not only did he know what he was doing, but because of his expertise he was able to save us thousands of dollars. On any given day you would be able to find Lee out inspecting the upgrade, making sure everything was done correctly. He would be "down there in the trenches" with the contractors or with John Hobday. If CMA had to pay for the work that Lee did for free, we would be financially strapped.. Under the guidance of Lee's leadership of CMA, not only did we stay under budget, but the work was done the correct way. Whether it was dealing with the contractors, the Association or Sam Ashelman, Lee was always on top of everything. If he saw something was not being done the right way, he would let you know. Lee considered the water upgrade "his baby". At the Board meeting in February it was wholeheartedly agreed to name the new South Reservoir after Lee. It will now be called the Lee Weinberger Reservoir and a plaque will be placed there. We have Lee to thank for completing the huge task of filing the PSC report for the Association.

It was a great pleasure getting to know Lee Weinberger. We all owe him a great debt of graditute. On a personal note, Roland and I will certainly miss seeing him on the mountainside. We, along with all of the other members of the community, have fond memories of Lee and will miss him greatly.

NEIGHBOR TO NEIGHBOR

George & Rosemary Cardner C-4

When we first came to Coolfont in the fall of 1995, we had a glorious time until I heard a shriek in the night. I'd already gone to bed when Rosemary turned off all the lights and groped her way along a left-hand wall to the bedroom. Unfortunately, a door opening onto a steep staircase was open and down she tumbled. Her wrist was broken, not to mention innumerable bruises and we spent much of the rest of the night at War Memorial Hospital in Berkeley Springs waiting for emergency personnel to arrive, after being summoned out of bed. They all had to get up again in a few hours for the Apple Butter Festival.

The next summer, we bought the house we'd stayed in, the Hearthstone (L-4) from Virginia Lapham, with whom Rosemary had worked at Georgetown University. We'd both fallen in love with the place, but I can never resist telling Rosemary she just wanted to break her wrist again!

I'd already heard of Coolfont before we ever stayed here, but in an unusual way. It was one of Vice President-elect Al Gore's favorite spots—until somebody told the Washington Post that he'd gotten lost on the White Trail, sending the Secret Service into a frenzy. As a reporter for the Post, I won't repeat the rumors I've heard about who blew the whistle on Gore, but I must say I'm glad not to have had to endure yet again the insufferable security that attends a presidential or vice presidential trip anywhere. I covered all of George Wallace's presidential campaigns (except the initial effort in 1964), memorable outings every one. What I remember primarily about the Secret Service during those trips was how deliberately they stomped on every reporter's foot as they hustled up and down the aisles of Wallace's campaign planes. Keep them out of Coolfont, please.

Like everyone else, except those who stay all the time, we can't wait to get here on the weekends and vacations we manage to peel off. Our Irish wolfhound, Gandalf, loves it too. He perks up every time I turn onto Cold Run Valley Road and starts jumping up and down in the back seat. I'm just glad it doesn't take that much longer for us to get to paradise. If he doesn't sit still, we may get there sooner.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

RECREATION COMMITTEE
Elaine Anderson

The Recreation Committee has been working on securing a contractor to build the bathhouse at the CMA pool. Three builders were approached. One chose not to bid and the other two gave bids. The committee is reviewing the bids in relation to the budget. The committee's goal is to select the contractor by March and to have the project completed by the 1999 annual meeting. Other items of concern for the committee include the steps to the tennis court, which are scheduled to be repaired by John Hobday and the continuing maintenance of the tennis courts.

COMMUNICATIONS/SOCIAL COMMITTEE
Rosemary Bigelow

Over the Fall and Winter we have been doing what we do best "meeting and eating" and communicating at the monthly Board meetings and pot lucks. It's great to see so many members attending both.

Marie Barrett has taken charge of the calling tree - notifying those volunteers who call you about any news, board meetings and other information.

The committee will sponsor a Newcomers' Brunch at the barn on Sunday, June 13. This will be instead of the Saturday night pot luck. We will also arrange a membership dinner at the barn following the annual meeting on July 17. Watch for more information.

Did you know....Carroll Yingling's fish sculptures, made from wire and glass and carved wood humming birds can be seen at the Mountain Laurel Gift Shop. Fleur de Lis is a new art gallery in town across the street from the Ice House. Inspirations the bakery and B&B on the corner of 9West and 522 has reopened. The annual Uniquely West Virginia, a celebration of wine and food of West Virginia will be held Saturday, April 17 at the Ice House from 11AM to 4PM, $1.00 admission. Highlawn Inn will have a multi course dinner Saturday evening, call 258-5700 for reservations. In June the Morgan Arts Council will hold its annual art auction. Watch the local paper.

There is a great craft tour, April 24-25 in the Middletown and Pleasant Valley area (north and west of Frederick, MD). The Valley Craft Studio Tour features outstanding professional craftspeople who open their homes to show their work. If you would like more information call Rosemary at 258-5352.

SECURITY COMMITTEE
Jackson Bain

The good news is there have been few reports of security violations on the mountainside for some time now. However, reality dictates we should be prepared and prevent crimes in all ways possible. Crime is out there, and despite our beautiful location and peaceful environment, some bad folks happen to show up here from time to time.

The first step in preventing crime is deterrence. The best deterrence is a visible patrol. After reviewing its options, the CMA Board has decided to award the security contract for the mountainside to CRI, and to coordinate with Coolfont Re Creation, Inc., to insure patrols are being conducted in a timely and efficient manner.

What does this mean to you? It means that there are several resources available to you, depending on which type of emergency you have. Please clip the list of emergency numbers on page 4 and keep it by your telephone for quick reference. Please note that within the next year Morgan County's 911 service is expected to become operational, but it is not currently working.

A FRIEND IS GONE
Gale Connor

The death of Lee Weinberger has been a real setback to CMA. Lee was the energetic leader and doer that CMA needed to make the water system upgrade and many other projects happen. When Lee made up his mind to do something, we could count on it being done. CMA will miss Lee.

On a more personal level, I have lost a friend. We had almost daily contact and there was many a day when we worked together all day. Each time that I worked with Lee he would teach me something. Often he would quiz me to make sure that I knew more than the fact that water ran down hill. Lee was the Doctor who made house calls. He would arrive almost daily. Sometimes it was business, however, most times it was just to check up on Kitty and me to make sure all was well.

The community will miss Lee and his "will do" attitude. I will miss him, even more because I have lost a rare thing, a true friend.

Lee, we all miss you.

FOR LEE FROM THE BOARD
Jackson Bain

The next time you walk around the mountainside, take a look around. Chances are you will see some important, needed improvement that was pushed, prodded and forced into existence by Lee Weinberger. We lost Lee in February, but so many memories and reminders of him remain here at Coolfont that it's really difficult to believe that he's gone.

Like the reservoir that is now named for him, Lee nourished us all. The reservoir does it with water, Lee did it with ideas and challenges to our assumptions that things could not be made better. Like the roads that wind through out community, Lee connected us all. His constant efforts to bring diverse ideas from lots of different people into a common focus and goal were successful largely because his personality and friendship smoothly bridged all gaps. And like the woods he loved to walk in, Lee brought a sense of calm, serenity and quiet joy to our mountainside. As anyone knows who has stood in the forest and simply listened, trees don't have to talk to communicate volumes to your soul. Lee could do so with a glance or a pat on the back or a smile.

We love Lee Weinberger for all that, and he will be long, long remembered.

E-MAIL

If anyone has e-mail and would like to have a copy of the minutes from the Board meetings, please contact Joan Bradfield at jbradfield1@juno.com. Those of you who are already receiving the minutes by mail and would like them by e-mail let Joan know.

DIRECTORY

You will notice that I have included a new telephone directory with this issue of the newsletter. For those of you who returned the form I sent out, I updated your information. If I did not receive a new form I used what I had in the old directory.

PRESIDENTS REPORT

Frank Rutherford

Our association lost a valuable board member when Lee Weinberger passed away in February. Lee was the heart and soul of the mountainside for the past few years as he presided over the association and the upgrade of the water system. At its February meeting, the Board unanimously voted to rename the South Reservoir the Lee Weinberger Reservoir. Others have added their tributes to Lee in this newsletter. Jackson Bain was voted by the Board to serve out the remainder of Lee's term.

The Board has been working on the list of goals established this fall. The major projects include the pool bathhouse, the barn office, security patrols for the mountainside and review of the DACC guidelines. These projects should be completed this summer. One major project that is just getting underway is the filing with the PSC for a reduction in the water rates. Since July 1, 1998, we have separated the water and sewer account from the rest of the CMA budget lines. When we file with the PSC we need to show them the cost to run the water system for one year. This becomes the basis for determining the water rate we will ask to charge. Our hope is that we will be able to begin the process this spring and have some indication from the PSC what our new rate will be by the annual meeting

Remember that at the annual meeting we will need to elect three new board members. If you are interested in having your name on the ballot, please contact one of the board members as we are beginning to gather a list of names for the process.
